The Trap

by John E. Smelcer

The Trap is an adventure/romance film released in 1966, written by David D. Osborn and directed by Sidney Hayers. Shot in the wilderness of the Canadian Rockies, the film tells the story of a young man who becomes involved in a dangerous game of cat-and-mouse with a cunning and crafty woman. The Trap explores themes of love, loyalty, and the power of human nature. The film was released to critical acclaim and remains a beloved classic of the genre.